Playing the game the art way. The Japanese cult game Sudoku in a fresh and colorful design – an eye-catcher in every home.

The Japanese expression "Suji wa dokushin ni kagiru" in English means: "Only single numbers allowed". The abbreviation for the cult game SUDOKU derives from this expression, and today, the game is played far beyond Japan by enthusiastic players from all over the world. The basic rules to solve a SUDOKU are simple: In each row, column and sub-square, a number may be placed but once. There is only one correct solution to each puzzle.

However, numbers aren't necessarily needed to play SUDOKU nor do you need paper, pencil and eraser. The board by intellego holzspiele features accurately carved-out slots into which the maple counters in nine brilliant colors fit perfectly. These colored counters represent the numbers of the original game. Thus, by using the classic SUDOKU rules, a colorful composition is created. This SUDOKU puzzle is based on colors.

Each game is manufactured from selected lumbers from Germany. With its matte painting and fine polishing, the smooth surface of the wooden board reflects the natural wild growth of the tree. Each wooden board is a unique item with its own particular, characteristic material.

However, besides all the individuality, they all have one thing in common: intellego holzspiele only delivers games that meet our high quality and safety standards.
